VOLUME 24 | Entered at the Post Office at Janesville, Wis., as second-class matter. | JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1880. | Published Every Evening Except Sunday, at $7 a Year. | NUMBER 250

A change of fifty degrees in sixteen hours is the kind of weather served up in the last week of 1880.

Common sense from the Menasha Press: "In advocating the choice of Mr. Sawyer we cannot take part in any war upon Mr. Keyes."

"The Legislatures of twenty-one of the thirty-eight States of the Union, now hold their sessions biennially," says the Chicago Journal. The Journal is mistaken. There are thirty States that hold biennial sessions, and Wisconsin will soon follow their example.

Judge Noyes, of the Marinette Eagle, says something on the senatorial question which the few Sawyer men in this part of the State, who seem to have lost their reason, should read and ponder: "While we favor Hon. Philetus Sawyer, of Oshkosh, believing him to be the best man named for the position, yet we will be better satisfied, if our man is to be beaten at all, to have Mr. Keyes the successful candidate than any other man yet named for the position."

This is a very important senatorial straw from the Sunday Telegraph: "While sixteen members of the United States grand jury were waiting for the opening session at Madison recently, they took among themselves a vote showing their preferences for United States Senator. The first ballot was expressive of their choice, irrespective of candidates named. It showed 11 for Keyes, 2 for Sawyer, and three scattering. The next ballot was as to their choice between Keyes and Sawyer, and resulted in giving Keyes 14, and Sawyer 2."

The Milwaukee Sunday Telegraph in giving the senatorial sentiment in that city, puts the figures in this wise: "The individuals who are giving out that Keyes will get no votes in Milwaukee, "or possibly one. but that is doubtful," are making a ridiculous mistake. Sawyer will be third on the list, when it comes to actual voting, and will be behind "the dark horse." According to present indications, the Milwaukee delegation will stand, Keyes, 5; "the dark horse" 4; Sawyer, 3. Others might put "the dark horse" ahead, and give Keyes only 4, but at all events, Sawyer does not stand any better than third, in the Milwaukee delegation. Paste this in your hat for reference, and if anybody tells you different, inform him that he does not know."

California is sound in providing that the same pay shall be given for similar work, whether done by men or women; and as a consequence, the women Vice-Principals in the San Francisco schools receive as much pay as the male Vice-Principals. This law has common sense and wisdom about it, and it is a wonder that other States do not follow the example of California. If a woman can do as much work as a man in the school room, why not pay her as much as he receives. Because she is a woman, is that a sound reason why she should receive less pay than a man, while she renders as much service as the male teacher? Women's rights in this direction is a subject well worth discussing, and the law-making power of the State should not ignore the question.

Dr. E. H. Chapin, whose death was announced in yesterday's Gazette, as having taken place in New York on Sunday night, was one of the foremost pulpit orators of the time. He was a polished speaker, wonderfully eloquent, a thorough student and a greater thinker. This country has produced but few men who have been so powerful in the pulpit or on the platform as Dr. Chapin. He swayed an audience at will, but did it by the force of eloquence, logic, earnestness, and power, and never descended to sensationalism. But few men in the United States were better versed in English literature and theology, than Dr. Chapin. He had one of the best private libraries in this country, numbering from 15,000 to 20,000 volumes, which were gathered from the best markets of Europe and America.

Jay Gould, the railway king of the United States, is a little fellow, only 41 years old, and is worth 50 millions, every dollar of which he has made himself. Ever since one of his enemies knocked him down and pitched him into a vacant cellar, his constant companion when he is on Wall street, is an Italian, his private secretary, a stout man six feet high. No one has ever dared to touch Gould since that time. Gould is a power on Wall street, and in a great many transactions is regarded extremely unscrupulous. He has that hold on railway stocks which enables him to make the stock exchange tremble at will. As defiant and hard as he may seem in business, he is one of the kindest of men, at home, and rarely ever leaves the house in the evening. He loves literature and art and spends much time in studying them.

A very accurate record has been kept by the Railroad Gazette of the number of railway accidents which have happened in the United States for the year ending November 30, 1880. The report given by months is as follows:

	No. of accidents	Killed	Injured.
December	69	18	72
January	62	11	50
February	61	16	49
March	65	9	33
April	74	14	45
May	95	30	107
June	96	15	77
July	78	21	100
August	112	49	214
September	121	15	54
October	120	69	137
November	115	40	165
Total	1,012	301	1,103

This report shows a great increase over previous years. For the same time ending November 30, 1879, there were 904 accidents, 183 persons killed, and 695 injured. For the corresponding time ending with November 30, 1878, there were 743 accidents, 196 killed, and 724 injured. The increase in the number of accidents and of those killed and injured, is probably not any greater in 1880 than in the previous years given, when the increase in the number of miles of roads operated, and of travel, is taken into account. The number of persons killed and injured is remarkably small when compared with the tens of millions of persons who traveled by rail in 1880.

SITTING BULL.

His Chief Warriors Come in to Arrange for the Surrender.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 27—A dispatch has been received at headquarters here from Fort Buford, stating that Scout Allison has arrived there with a number of Sitting Bull's principal chiefs and warriors. They left Bull and braves, women and children, ponies and tepees at the mouth of the Milk River, distant by water two hundred miles from Buford, and two days' ride by land. Between the Milk River and the Yellowstone, near the month of Poplar River, are the disaffected Indians, ostensibly part of Bull's band, but probably not owing him allegiance. The latter are, by runners, doing all in their power to prevent Bull's bands from coming in and surrendering. However, hunger is potent, and the hostiles are out of meat. To add to the complications it is stated that some of the Sioux who recently surrendered at Fort Keogh are in Sitting Bull's camp, endeavoring to make him change his route and give himself up at Keogh instead of Buford, though it is not believed he will do so. It seems probable that within a fortnight Sitting Bull will have given himself up.

A TRIPLE TRAGEDY.

A Man and Wife Murdered and the Murderer Lynched by a Mob.

ALLENTON, Pa. Dec. 27—Jacob Gogel and wife, residing four miles from Bethlehem, were found dead in bed this morning, their heads nearly severed from their bodies. A bloody ax was found in the apartments, and the walls were splashed with blood. Joseph Snyder, who boarded with the Gogels, was believed to be the murderer. He was caught by an infuriated mob soon after the discovery of the crime, and was hanged to the nearest tree. Gogel leaves three children.

Joseph Snyder, aged 24, the murderer, was found in a neighboring barn under the straw at 9 o'clock this morning. He was immediately taken back to the house of his victims, and questioned as to the murder. He was cool and collected. He was interrogated by the Rev. Mr. Breudle, of Bethlehem, and at once confessed having committed the crime, telling the story with great deliberation. He was in love with the eldest daughter of the Gogel's, aged 16, but was opposed by her parents. He believed by killing them all opposition would be removed to his suit. He had scarcely confessed before a rope taken from one of the beds was placed around his neck and he was dragged outside the house and hung to a large chestnut tree. After being suspended twenty minutes the body was cut down by the poor house authorities and taken to that institution, where it was found death was by strangulation. The officers of the law made a vain endeavor to restrain the fury of the mob, Detective Yoke, of Bethlehem firing at one of the ringleaders without effect. Several thousand people visited the scene of the tragedy during the day.

HARWOOD'S FLIGHT.

The Topic of the Day's Talk on the Minneapolis Swindler.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—The reported flight of N. B. Harwood, the bankrupt dry goods merchant, of Minneapolis, was the main topic to-day in dry goods circles here, and occasioned much comment. Some of the creditors were surprised at the report; but a few had received intimation of such a course in case the creditors refused to accept his offer to compromise at fifty cents on the dollar, but did not expect he would have left the next days and he was probably advised by telegraph of the result of Thursday's meeting. Some of the creditors were of the opinion that he would go to Europe, as the $100,000 given to his wife would be sufficient to support him there. All the creditors are now working to secure their own individual interest, and it was stated that several large attaching creditors were going to replevin their goods. The replevin creditors are rather pleased with the report of Harwood's flight, as one of them said that there would now be a better chance of the creditors keeping the goods replevined. A judgment creditor for $20,000 sold out his claim to-day to another creditor, but the amount obtained was not stated. Several of the unsecured creditors have sold out their claims at 20 and 25 cents on the dollar.

One of the largest creditors, who went out to Minneapolis, said that they looked upon the failure as a swindle, and, after receiving the report of the experts, refused to accept the 50 cents offered by Harwood, although it was more than they could get any other way, believing that it was not right to allow him to continue business.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Cleveland Report Corroborated.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—If Mr. Blaine decides to enter the next cabinet he will be Secretary of State. His friends advise him to take the position, it being one where he will be able to distinguish himself and give scope to the great executive ability which he possesses. It is safe to presume that Mr. Blaine would make a live and active secretary. Should he assume the management of the State Department, no stone would be left unturned by him in the way of improving American commerce. He would not only advise the development of foreign trade, and show how it can best be accomplished, but, having devised a plan he would labor unceasingly until it was adopted by Congress. An experiment would at least be made in the direction of the development of the American carrying trade.

MILWAUKEE.

Important Failure—A Boom in Wheat

MILWAUKEE, Wis. Dec. 27—The failure of the grain commission firm known as the William P. McLaren Co., is the sensation of the day here. The house has had a branch at Chicago, managed by the Messrs. Race, and speculations by the latter caused the collapse. The amount is about $100,000. The firm was a stock company, and was supposed to be sound. The failure does not affect the large private fortune of William P. McLaren, and he continues the business here. The wheat market enjoyed a boom to-day, jumping from 94 cents for January in the forenoon to 96¾ cents at the late Board. February closed at 98 cents.

THE IRISH TROUBLES.

The Precautionary Measures Taken at Quebec.

QUEBEC, Canada, December 27.—The Mercury says orders were issued at the citadel on Saturday to serve out to each man fifty rounds of ball cartridges, to place double sentries on the gates and walls, and pull in the draw-bridges. All passes to the men have been canceled, and no man is allowed out after gun-fire. The gates are closed daily at 4 p. m. It is reported that an imperial government spy was in the city last week with orders to ascertain the strength and position of the Irish in Canada and the United States, and the movements of the Land Leaguers. It is said he has left for Montreal on his way to the States.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

MINERAL POINT, Dec. 27—A negro by the name of Carter Hartgrove was arrested in the town of Waldwick, for attempting to murder an old lady, Mrs. W. Young, at the residence of her son-in-law, John White, while she was in charge of her grandchildren. He entered the house by a window about 1 o'clock Christmas morning, and attacked her as she lay in bed, so severely injuring her that her life is despaired of. Finding he was recognized by Mrs. Young and the terrified children, he retiraced his steps. He was arrested the same day, and with much effort the enraged community was prevented from lynching him.

Why the Romans Wish Each Other "A Good August."

From a Letter from Rome in the Hour.

Even in the earliest days it was the custom to wish a "good August and to give dinners and entertainments. The reason—for there is a method in all these Roman Madnesses—is that August is the most unhealthy month in the year in Rome. If you escape the fever until then, you can rarely escape them in August, unless unheard of precautions are taken, of which you soon get tired. As rest, sleep and good wine are the surest preventives of Roman fever the August gifts usually take the form of poultry and wine. If you can eat, drink and sleep well, and never go into the open air while there is a ray of sun, you may escape the fever. But eat irregularly, and drink poor wine and go out during the hot hours, and sooner or later you will be seized with fever. It begins with a shivering fit that shakes the very room in which the patient lies, nor can the heaping on of elder-down quilts and pillows stop it. It sometimes continues for hours. The teeth chatter and you feel as if suddenly naked on an iceberg. When the shivering fit ceases the fever commences and after that comes a profuse perspiration. The more you perspire the better, for if the patient does not perspire he is suffering from the worst kind of Roman fever called the "perniciosa" whose very name makes Romans quake with terror, for it carries one off in a couple of hours. Native Romans think nothing of these fevers; they do not even call in a doctor if all goes on well; that is if the perspiration comes out all right. They know exactly what to do, and the fevers have no more effect on them than that of keeping them in bed during the actual feverishness. Between the spells, which return very regularly, they eat, drink, work, walk and go to the theaters, as if nothing was the matter with them and will sometimes continue thus for more than eighteen months. They look as yellow as the lemons, the juice of which they drink but that is all. With Americans and English, however, the case is different. In the first place, we begin by being very frightened, and the quinine has not the same effect on us as it has upon the Romans. Our stomachs reject it after a few doses, much to the doctor's dismay. A couple of feverish attacks reduce us to a state of prostration. We are unable to lift a handkerchief. The dreaded "perniciosa" soon makes its appearance, unless we can be removed to better air, when the fever disappears as if by enchantment. At the first sign of a Roman fever, therefore, every American should leave Rome immediately if only for Lraseati, Albano, or any of the summer resorts which are at the gates of Rome. Doctors send away patients in their beds, if they are too weak to be removed otherwise.

THE GAZETTE.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 28

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

Spare the Trees.

THE tree may be described as a rooted animal, whose function it is to equalize the electrical conditions of the atmosphere and the earth, to purify the air we breathe, to exhale large quantities of aqueous vapor, and, by so doing, to modify both the temperature and the dryness of that aerial ocean in which it expands its foliage, to check the evaporation of moisture from the soil, and to promote the conduction of water to it, and thus to assist in the formation of those subterranean springs which become the sources of perennial streams and majestic rivers.

When I say that a tree is a rooted animal, I do so advisedly. Its vital functions are analogous to ours. The spongioles at its roots select and absorb the food which it draws from the soil, in much the same way as that in which the lacteals of the human stomach act; this food is converted into sap, or blood, and its circulation is arterial and venous, like our own. The tree breathes, as we do, its leaves being its lungs; and the process of respiration is effected by means of the air-cells on the lower surface of the leaf, just as some insects breathe through the pores of their skin. In the hydrangea there are as many as sixteen thousand of these little air-holes in every square inch of the leaf, and in the yucca, or Adam's-needle, there are no less than forty thousand in the same space. Each of these inhales carbonic acid, and exhales oxygen, just as we inhale oxygen, and exhale carbonic acid. And a living tree maintains a uniformity of temperature, just as the human body does. It has its hours of sleep, as we have, and its period of growth, maturity, reproduction, and decay, as we have.

As an agent for the purification of the atmosphere, the value of the tree is incalculable. Professor Asa Gray, speaking of the Washington elm, at Cambridge, states that it is estimated to have produced an annual crop of seven millions of leaves, exposing a surface of five acres of foliage to the air. And as every inch of that foliage embraces many thousands of respiratory tubes, each incessantly engaged in giving off oxygen so long as it is exposed to the action of the light, we may imagine the beneficent part which a forest plays in relation to the supply of the vivifying principle for our own lungs and blood; and we may also estimate what we suffer, in the privation of it, by herding together in large cities, and breathing a poisoned or deteriorated atmosphere.

The influence of the forest on the humidity of the air and the earth is due to a variety of causes. In the first place, the tree, in respiration, while decomposing the carbonic acid, sets free a certain quantity of vapor. Not only so, but a portion of the moisture which is drawn up from the soil is given off by cutaneous transpiration, in the same way that vapor escapes from our bodies. In the second place, by sheltering the ground beneath them, shade trees protect it against solar irradiation. Thirdly, as trees—according to experiments which have been made in Europe—maintain at all seasons a constant mean temperature of 54° Fahrenheit, the vapor which is held in suspension by the atmosphere, when the heat of this is higher than that of the forest, coming in contact with the latter, is condensed, and falls in the shape of fine rain, or of "drip." This is a phenomenon constantly observable in wooded elevations, like the Dandenong Ranges, for example, and those pure ice-cold springs, which come leaping down the shaggy slopes of the mountains, making sweet music as they babble and gurgle, foam and eddy, in the green twilight of the lovely fern-tree cloister overhead, are but the vapor floating in the air, transmuted into sparkling runnels and stainless cataracts by the action of the gigantic eucalypti, which lift their lordly heads with such a majesty of mien above the crest of those purple hills.

Strip the ranges of their crown of glory, without replanting them, and each stream and creek would forthwith disappear. The winter rains would wash every inch of surface soil off the mountains: and then, when the bed-rock had been stripped quite naked, a heavy fall of rain would rebound from the impervious declivities into the circumjacent valleys, and devastating inundations would denude these of their alluvium and sweep it into the sea. Instead of green pastures and blooming orchards, and fruitful vineyards and pleasant gardens, you would see a bare and arid plain, treeless and waterless, except in the winter, when a tropical down-pour would fill the otherwise dry beds of what are now permanent creeks with turbulent torrents.

France, with other countries, has more than once paid the penalty of this wholesale destruction of timber. Hill-side forests were cut down; there was nothing to arrest the rain, and to conduct it through a mass of vegetable humus into the sub-soil, perforated and rendered permeable by the far-reaching roots of the trees, from whence it would find its way into under-ground reservoirs, constituting the fountain-heads of never-failing springs. And thus, when the snows melted, or when there was a heavy rain-fall, floods of disastrous violence occurred. That of 1840, in the valley of the Rhone, destroyed property of the value of seventy-two millions of francs. Those of 1846 occasioned a loss of forty-five millions of francs; that of May, 1856, laid a million of acres, including many towns and villages, under water in the valley of the Loire; while in the valley of the Rhone its effects are described as having been as calamitous as if the whole country had been occupied by an invading army; and the flood of 1875 was even more calamitous. More recently all Europe was moved by the afflicting narrative of the appalling inundations by which so large a portion of the Spanish province of Murcia was devastated. And here again outraged nature visited upon man the penalties of his own misdeeds. Warning voices were lifted up against the reckless war which was being everywhere waged against what little live timber yet remains in Spain, and the Government, the various municipalities, and the land-owners of the country were entreated to take some steps for the replantation of the mountain slopes; but it was all of no avail. The leading newspaper of Madrid in an excellent article on this subject has pointed out that the evils resulting from periods of protracted drought, alternating with heavy rain-falls, occasioning floods, are alarmingly on the increase, and an earnest appeal is addressed to the patriotism and public spirit of Spaniards to concert measures for rescuing the country from such perils.

Just before this frightful disaster, Hungary was visited by one of a similar character, attributable to a like cause, and attended with a correspondingly deplorable sacrifice of human life and valuable property. The county town Szegedin, a place containing nearly forty thousand inhabitants, was swept away in a few hours, and the swollen waters of the Theiss, augmented to the proportions of a lake, overwhelmed a busy and prosperous community by a general ruin. The Theiss rises in the Carpathians, and in those mountains, as elsewhere, the hand of the spoiler has been at work; the forests have been felled, without any systematic attempt at replantation, and outraged nature visits upon the heads of the malefactors the righteous retribution of their shameful rapine.—Harper's Weekly.

A Most Horrible Fate.

THE favorite trap employed for wolves in Burgundy is the traquerard. This is the most dangerous even to man, the strongest that is made requiring two men to set it. It has springs of formidable power and delicacy, and when these are touched the jaws of the trap, armed with rows of teeth, shut one within the other. In spite of every precaution, however, very sad occurrences will often happen in these forests.

Some years ago a trap was placed near a deserted footway, and the usual warning precautions taken. The same day a young man, anxious to present to his fiancee some turtle doves and pigeons with rosy beaks, with whose whereabouts he was acquainted, left his home a little before sunset to surprise the birds on their nest. He was late. The night closed in rapidly, and with the intention of shortening the road he took his way across the forest. Without in the least heeding the brambles and bushes which caught his legs, or the ditches and streams he was obliged to cross, he pressed on, and after a continued battle with the thorns, the stumps and roots, and the long clinging tendrils of the wild roses, came exactly on the track where the trap was set.

The night was now nearly dark, and, thinking only of his doves and the loved one, he failed to observe that several little pieces of string were swinging to and fro in the breeze from the branches of the thicket near him. Dreadful, indeed, was it for him that he did not, for suddenly he felt a terrible shock, accompanied by most intense pain, the bones of his leg being apparently crushed to splinters. He was caught in the wolf-trap.

The first few moments of pain and suffering over, he must have comprehended the danger of his position, and had, it is presumed, with great presence of mind, endeavored to open the serrated iron jaws which held him fast. But, though danger is said to double the strength of a man, the trap refused to give up its prey, and as at each movement of its body the iron teeth hurled themselves deeper and deeper in his flesh his agony must have been of the most exquisite description. He probably shouted, and would have continued to shout, however, hopelessly, for help, had it not been for the fear of attracting the wolves that might be lurking in the neighborhood. He had under his coat a small hatchet; and with this, in the event of his being attacked by the dreaded animals, he trusted to defend himself. As the night lengthened, the moon rose and shed her pale light over the forest. He may now be pictured immovable, with eyes and ears on the qui vive, his body in the most excruciating torment, listening and waiting. All at once, far, very far off, he hears a confused murmur of indistinct sounds. Approaching with rapidity, these murmurs become cries and yells. They are those of wolves on the track—hellish demons, which ere a few minutes would be upon him, carried direct to the spot by the trails set for the destruction of his destroyers. Fear not being part of his hardy nature, he, by almost superhuman efforts, and in the awful moment forgetting all pain, contrived to drag himself and the trap toward an oak tree, against which he placed his back.

Here was his hatchet ready to strike, the young fellow, full of courage, doubtless offered up a short prayer to his God, and embracing, as it were, in his mind his poor old mother and his bride, awaited the horrible result, determined to show himself a true child of the forest, and meet his fate like a man. A few minutes more he was surrounded by a cordon of yellow flame from the eyes of the brutes, the animals themselves, which he could scarcely distinguish, sending forth their terrible yells full in his face.

On the following morning, when the unfortunate forester who set the trap came to examine it, he found it at the foot of the oak, deluged with blood, the bone of a human leg upright between the iron teeth, and all around, scattered about the turf and the path, a quantity of human remains. Shreds of a coat and other articles of clothing were discovered near the spot. With the assistance of some dogs, which were put on the scent, three wolves, their bodies and heads cut open with a hatchet, were found dying in an adjacent thicket. When the venerable cure of the village, after previously endeavoring in every possible way by Christian exhortation to prepare his aged mother to hear the sad tale, informed her that these remains of humanity were all that was left of her boy, she laughed. Alas! it was the laugh of madness; reason had fled.—All the Year Round.

PETER GRUB sold his share in an iron mine at Cornwall, Pa., reserving the right to enter the premises forever and take therefrom sufficient ore for the supply of one furnace. That was almost a hundred years ago, when iron ore was smelted in a somewhat crude fashion, and the average yield of a furnace was 1,500 tons a year. That was about the amount taken by Mr. Grub annually during his lifetime. But the process has been vastly improved since then, and now a furnace turns out as much in a single month. The question arose, of course, whether the heirs of Grub were entitled to as much ore as would supply an eighteenth or a nineteenth century furnace. A lawsuit has been in the courts for twenty-four years, employing some of the ablest lawyers in the State. The Supreme Court has just decided, on appeal, that ore can be taken in sufficiency to supply a furnace of the present time.

CHARLES HARTMAN, Toledo, Ohio, says: "I know it cured me, and I hope others similarly troubled with pain in the chest may be helped by the "Only Lung Pad" as I have. See Ads.

Economy of Strength.

ECONOMY of strength is quite as important as economy of time. There are many housekeepers who, if they work moderately, can keep upon their feet nearly all day, while if they were to hurry, they would be completely tired out in an hour. Those who are fortunate enough to possess the strength and health with which our grandmothers were blest, can do their housework as they please—if they choose to loiter all day, they can easily do two days' work the next—while their weaker sisters must keep their work from getting behind-hand. A little mental work will aid wonderfully, if rightly applied. Suppose that instead of going "down cellar" six separate times while preparing dinner, one should use a little forethought, and while getting the meat do all things possible? The butter can be placed on the plate and the cream turned into the pitcher; little hands and feet can be taught to do safely and carefully many errands that would greatly relieve weary mothers. If there are no little ones to aid, a large platter or even the dish-pan can be used to good advantage in carrying different things from the cellar. It is even very tiresome to be obliged to do much work after tea. So let the meat be cut and the potatoes brought in and perhaps pared during the intervals of preparing the meal. Let the basins and saucers that are soiled be immediately washed, and one will be relieved from an immense pan of dishes after supper. The same may be said of going up stairs, for passing back and forth, even over the easiest steps, is very tiresome, and one will be well repaid for economy.

Sometimes in the midst of housework one will be seized with a sudden fit of trembling, a headache, or an unaccountable weariness of the limbs. One knows that sitting or lying down for half an hour will relieve, but because the sweeping is not done, or possibly the dishes, thinks it must not be. I deem it purest folly to spend ten or twelve hours in pain and weariness, when one-twentieth that time spent in rest would prevent it. I do not call it indolence if one spends two forenoons at ironing, taking frequent rests, in which most or all the mending can be done. Neither do I think it wrong if the washing is not always done on Monday. I do not wish to advocate laziness, but I should like to tell every wife that it is due her husband and family that she make the best possible use of her strength—that it is not advisable to use it carelessly, for eal comfort need not be sacrificed, though system and order may be slightly dethroned.—Cor. Country Gentleman.

A Physician's Testimony.

I hereby certify that I have been a practicing physician for twenty-seven years, and for many chronic cases in my practice do recommend Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. It was upon my advice that G. W. Stamm, editor of the Industrial Era, Albia, Iowa, obtained this invaluable remedy.

THE Boston Post man has tried it time and again, and he says that no young man can take the least comfort riding out in a carriage with two girls. They have too great a chance to study the back of his neck.

A YOUNG pastor who has recently had a son born to him notifies a brother pastor as follows: "Unto us a child is born; unto us a son is given—Is. 9:6." It was written on a postal card. The receiver showed the message to a sister in his church. "Ah, yes," said the woman, after reading it—it weighed nine pounds six ounces."

TO CLEAN BLACK CLOTH.—Dissolve one ounce of bicarbonate of ammonia in one quart of warm water. With this liquid rub the cloth, using a piece of flannel or black cloth for the purpose. After the application of this solution, clean the cloth well with clear water; dry and iron it, brushing the cloth from time to time in the direction of the fiber.

—Remember that an extra amount of feed is required to keep up warmth when stock are compelled to remain "out in the cold" during wet and stormy weather. Lumber is cheaper than hay and grain, therefore build comfortable shed and barns for cattle and sheep, on the score of economy, even if you have no feeling for the dumb brutes.—Lansing Republican.

A WRITER in the New York Herald says, on the question of trimming tomato vines to promote early ripening, that if the season is hot and dry and the soil not very rich, you will scarcely hasten their maturing, while you will materially diminish their product, by trimming; but if the soil is rich and the season wet and cool, it will check their tendency to run to vine and hasten their ripening by trimming pretty freely.

GEORGE W. ALDRICH, of Wayne County, N. Y., has an Indian relic, plowed up on his farm, that has thus far defied the guesses of all who have seen it as to its use by the aborigines. It is of stone, nine inches in length, two inches in diameter at one end and running to a point at the other. Through the entire length of the thing is a groove one-half an inch across and the same depth at the largest end, coming to a point at the smaller end. It has a highly polished surface, which exhibits under a magnifying glass, various hieroglyphics which are invisible to the naked eye.

Epitaph.

Here lies I and my three daughters,

If we had stuck to Epsom Salts,
We shouldn't be lying in these here vaults,
Or if Eclectric Oil we'd tried,
We never should have gone and died.

Has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.

My practice, not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattering. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic Diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything or cure everybody, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. There is no civilized nation in the Western Hemisphere in which the utility of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a tonic, corrective, and antibilious medicine, is not known and appreciated. While it is a medicine for all seasons and all climates, it is especially suited to the complaints generated by the weather, being the purest and best vegetable stimulant in the world. For sale by Druggists and Dealers, to whom apply for Hostetter's Almanac for 1881.

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED.

Rev. E. F. L. GAUSS, Galena, Ills., writes—"For over ten years I had been a great sufferer from pains in the small of the back and region of the Kidneys, which was most excruciating and at times almost insufferable. Doctoring brought no relief, and I was finally advised to go abroad and seek the climate of my youth. In Germany and Switzerland, eminent physicians, after close examinations, declared my sufferings to arise from disease of the Kidneys, of long standing, and could do me no good. I was, however, benefited by the climate and consequently returned. No sooner had I been back and resumed my pastoral work, when the old trouble grew again so intense as to make life a burden. A few months ago I came in possession of one of Day's Kidney Pads, put it on, and the effects were truly wonderful. The pains at once grew less and are now, after wearing the second Pad, entirely gone, and there can be no doubt that I am entirely cured, as I write this some weeks after its use, and am strong and look again the very picture of health. I write this perfectly voluntarily, and it is dictated only by truth and gratitude. Indeed, I consider the Day Kidney Pad Co. God's agents and great benefactors of mankind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been is my earnest wish."

LARIMORE & DEAN, Druggists, Niles, Mich.—(30 years in business)—"DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is having a large sale and gives better general satisfaction than any remedy we ever sold."

CASPER WEITZEL, Policeman, Lancaster, Pa.—"I have been a great sufferer from Kidney complaint, and after wearing your Pad 25 days I feel better than I have in 15 years."

Dr. A. J. STONER, Decatur, Ills.—"Your Pad is doing great good here. It sells every day and gives universal satisfaction."

For sale by druggists, or sent by mail free of postage on receipt of the price—Regular Pad $2.00; Special Pad (extra size), $3.00; Children's, $1.50. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery and a large record of most remarkable cures sent free. Write for it. Address, DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., Toledo, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.

HEIMSTREET is the only agent in Rock county for Day's Kidney Pads.

JOHNSTOWN CENTER.

—Ladies all complaining of the "nasty little snow" and wishing for more or less in order to avoid so much scrubbing after the men folk.

—The Christmas tree on Friday evening was quite a pleasant affair, the church being neatly trimmed with evergreens and appropriate mottoes adorning the walls. The tree proper was a beautiful one, obtained by Mr. Bowers of this place, and after being adorned by the young ladies and gentlemen was really a sight to behold, and reminded one of the tree that bore all manner of fruit. The exercises of the evening consisted of singing, reading, recitations &c., and were quite pleasing. Rev. Mrs. Servis and Rev. Miller were each the recipient of several gifts. Mr. C. S. Groesbeck, received an elegant and serviceable camp chair from his pupils, as a tribute of respect, and which he values very highly. Miss Groesbeck also received a vase from her pupils. There were many valuable presents on the tree, and all seemed to enjoy the evening, the children especially. Good order prevailed.

—Mrs. Servis continues to preach at this point as usual.

—Mr. Miller preaches to the children next Sabbath at 2 p. m. He has formed a class here and although not in large numbers, yet we hope the effort will prove successful.

—Mr. Miller is to hold a watch meeting Friday evening, commencing at 7:30 o'clock p. m., and continuing until after midnight.

—Some few of the farmers are stripping tobacco.

—The inmates of the County house enjoyed a bountiful "Christmas dinner" under the management of the efficient keeper and his pleasant wife.

—Mr. F. Pember is home from Chicago, where he is studying medicine. He is to remain at home but a few days.

A School Trustee said it was unnecessary for the children to repeat lessons on American History, for everybody knows that History "repeats itself" and we can't too often repeat that Spring Blossom is the best cure for Dyspepsia, Billiousness and Indigestion.

FOOTVILLE.

—Mr. A. F. Snyder, who is teaching in the town of Porter, was home last week on a short visit through the holidays.

—We understand that Mr. and Mrs. Will Richards, and A. G. Wallihan, are expected home soon. They are living in Colorado.

—Mr. Harper, our energetic stock dealer, is making things lively in his line this winter. He ships, on an average, three car loads per week.

—Mr. Jno. Spurr, of the C. & N. W. road, is spending the holidays in this village.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Brogan are receiving the congratulations of their numerous friends.

—W. J. Hawk, of New Buffalo, D. T., who has been at home for a short time, returned to that place last Monday.

—Dennis Ryan, the well known contractor, has taken a new contract, quite an extensive one, viz.: raising a fine boy. The boy in question, arrived last Monday morning, and all are doing well.

—The Footville band played for a small party at Snyder's hall, Saturday evening. The music was fine, and all enjoyed themselves.

—Henry Richard's team created quite a ripple of excitement on our usually quiet streets, by taking a little voluntary exercise. The damage, except to fences, was light.

—The sociable, this week, was held at the residence of W. J. Owen. All present report a good time. The usual literary programme was omitted on account of the preparations which are being made for the entertainment at Snyder's hall, about January 20th.

—Miss Frankie Edwards and Miss Conant, of Janesville, have been in the vicinity the past week, the guests of J. C. Owen and lady.

—Miss Hattie Tripp has been on the sick list.

—Services are to be held in the M. E. church on New Year's eve. All are cordially invited to be present.

—W. W. Wiggins submitted himself to the operation of exsection of femur of the hip joint, last Tuesday. Drs. Evans and Braden performed the operation.

—Footville was quite well represented at the Christmas tree and oyster supper at Center. They report the oysters as being fine.

—Our school is taking a week's rest.

—Miss Emma Howell, of Viroqua, is taking a two weeks' vacation here.

—Active preparations are being made for the entertainment to be given by the Methodist society in a few weeks.

—J. F. Litel, of Albany, spent his Christmas here.

—Plymouth Town Treasurer gave us a call last Monday, and took in considerable of the filthy lucre.

—Quite a number from here will attend the entertainment at Orford New Years eve.

GEO. W. HARPER, of Strait Creek, Va. says he has been afflicted with nervous debility for ten years and that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD has entirely cured him.

IT rather knocks the glory out of our ideal statesman to imagine him in the act of paring his toe-nails. And yet we shouldn't like to think of him as never performing that act. Life's facts seem rather against ideals, anyhow.—Boston Post.

THE first day after a Leadville man who had always been too poor to afford any thing but whisky straight, struck it rich, he went in for mixed drinks and called for lemonade with a stick in it. And when he had his glass refilled, he said: "Mr. Bartender, put in a whole woodpile this time."—Boston Post.

A GIRL composed of eight halves is a mathematical anomaly, a scientific monstrosity. And yet we heard one recently, within half an hour, declare she was half dead with the heat, had laughed herself half to death at somebody's mishap or blunder, was half crazy to know something about something else, was half tickled to death at some funny remark of an ape of a beau, was half mad at an escort's presumption, and was half killed by a hairpin scratching her neck, while all of her—two halves more—was still alive, well, and absurd. Girls, drop all these hyperbolical nonsensicalities that disfigure your daily walk and conversation, and be as sensible as you are pretty and lovable.—Deadwood Pioneer.

☞ KIDNEGEN is highly recommended and unsurpassed for WEAK or FOUL KIDNEYS, DROPSY, BRIGHT'S DISEASE LOSS of ENERGY, NERVOUS DEBILITY, or any OBSTRUCTIONS arising from KIDNEY or BLADDER DISEASES. Also for Yellow Fever, Blood and Kidney Poisoning, in infected malarial sections.

☞ By the distillation of a FOREST LEAF with JUNIPER BERRIES and BARLEY MALT we have discovered KIDNEGEN, which acts specifically on the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, removing injurious deposits formed in the bladder and preventing any straining, smarting sensation, heat or irritation in the membraneous lining of the ducts or water passages. It excites a healthy action in the Kidneys giving them strength, vigor, and restoring these organs to a healthy condition, showing the effects on both the color and easy flow of urine. It can be taken at all times, in all climates and under all circumstances without injury to the system. Unlike any other preparation for Kidney difficulties it has a very pleasant and agreeable taste and flavor. It has been difficult to make a preparation containing positive diuretics properties which will not nauseate, but be acceptable to the stomach. Before taking any Liver medicine try a bottle of KIDNEGEN to CLEANSE THE KIDNEYS from foul matter. Try it and you will always use it as a family medicine. Ladies especially will like it, and Gentlemen will find KIDNEGEN the best kidney effects ever used.

NOTICE.—Each bottle bears the signatures of LAWRENCE & MARTIN, also a Proprietary Stamp, which permits KIDNEGEN to be sold (without license) by druggists, grocers and other persons everywhere.

Put Up in Quart Size Bottles for General and Family Use.

If not found at your druggists or grocers, we will send a bottle prepaid to the nearest express office to you.

BRIEFLETS.

—Quite cool.

—Two or more weddings to-night.

—The sidewalks are all crack ones now.

—The Congregationalists are to have their Christmas entertainment to-night.

—Preparations are now in progress for making and receiving New Year's calls.

—Innocents' day. Appropriate services were held this morning at Trinity Episcopal church.

—The Council don't waste much time now in planting gas-posts. The weather isn't favorable for it.

—Mrs. Conrad and Miss Hattie Dearborn are to sing at the Temple of Honor entertainment to-morrow night. The programme will open at 7:30 o'clock, and dancing will commence at 9 o'clock.

—At a special meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Fire Department, held last evening, Mr. John F. Ehrlinger was appointed Collector to act in the absence of James Shearer, who now holds that office.

—Rather early for new potatoes, but Myron Gibbs, of the Third ward, brought one in to-day, of his own raising this season. He raised it out of the cellar. It isn't full grown, but is full of promise for the future.

—The Presbyterian Sabbath school celebrate their annual Christmas festival by an oyster supper at Cannon's hall, Wednesday evening, at 6 o'clock prompt. All the members of the school and parents are cordially invited.

—One of the odd happenings of the Christmas trees, was the presentation to one of our prominent citizens, of an elegant prayer book and an elegant pack of cards. Fortune has now prepared him for both the church and the world.

—One of those funny fellows, who always have suggestions to offer, says that the reason so many men flesh up in the winter, is that it is too cold for them to "lean" around on the bridge-rails and dry-goods boxes. Throw him out.

—The cotton factory folk have taken possession of their new office. It is both convenient and attractive, and in the same building is the finishing room, an upper story for storing cloth, when needed, and a basement for storing cotton.

—A gay old Benedict says he has found out by years of experience a sure way to get warmed. All he has to do on coming home is to hiccough at the front gate, and try to unlock the front door with a lead pencil, and it is red hot for him when he gets inside.

—A tramp, who is evidently determined to travel despite weather or financial condition, tried yesterday to steal a ride on a freight train by hanging to one of the trucks under the cars. He rode in this way from Monroe to Eagle, and when discovered was so nearly frozen that it was hard to tell whether it was a chunk of ice or a quarter of frozen beef that was hanging there. So they say.

—C. L. Thomas, who is spending a few days in the city, is still interested in the Empire Cross Spring, which he is manufacturing in the East, and has also added a new spring called the St. Julien, which is for a side bar gear, and is one of the neatest things in that line we have seen. On his way westward he stopped at Cincinnati, and got an order from one firm for one thousand sets, the largest order on record.

—Next Friday evening Baldwin's Brilliants open at the Opera house, presenting a varied and spicy programme embracing several attractions. One of the special features of the entertainment is that everyone who attends is to receive a present. As there are no blanks every patron of the show may expect a prize. The same company will give a matinee New Year's afternoon and another entertainment in the evening. As will be seen by their advertisement the prices of admission are popular ones.

—Robert Barlass, uncle of Andrew Barlass, died this morning at the ripe old age of eighty-three years. He and Mr. Andrew Barlass came to this country together, and were the first Scotch settlers on Rock prairie, and have lived there for thirty-eight years. The many friends of the one now gone hence will be saddened at learning of his death, for he was greatly esteemed by them all. The funeral services are to be held at his residence in the town of Johnstown, on Thursday next, at 1 o'clock p. m.

—The thermometer which hangs in front of Prentice & Evenson's drug store created a little flurry yesterday afternoon, as those who stopped to see the health of the weather, by noting its mercurial pulse, found that it stood twenty-five degrees below zero. Some clapped their hands over their ears, and run for the nearest coal-stove. Others, more hardy and brave, stood and looked and wondered. It didn't seem so cold. Finally one inquisitive unbeliever walked into that drug-store, and asked if "that ere thermometer was sot right, or mayn't it be a leetle slow." Prentice stepped to the front, and he too was puzzled. The thermometer plainly showed twenty-five degrees below, and yet it couldn't be. He looked to see if some boy hadn't put a bit of ice on the bulb, but there was no sign of such a trick. He waited to see if the mercury wouldn't go up a little, and about the time he felt that every bone was an ice-cream freezer, he spied the trouble. The tube had slipped, or been slipped, out of its place, and had dropped down in its case, so that it had got to telling as big lies as any of those who delight to tell about that winter years and years ago, when the mercury got so low that it had to be stood upside down to tell the degrees at all. The tube was lifted into its place, and had to tell the truth that it was only four degrees below, but many who happened to see it in its fallen state, still tell big stories as to how low the mercury went yesterday afternoon.

Among the articles which brought goodly sums into the treasury was the china tea set, which brought $72.50; the party dress, which brought $50, and the silver tea set, which brought $57.

The black thorn stick, over which there was such a contest between the friends of Thomas Madden and Marshal Hogan, brought $196. The lady's gold watch brought $183.70. The cutter realized $88. Then the "fish pond" added its $11.25, "the wheel of fortune," $80, and "the postoffice" $5.26.

There was an exciting contest last evening over the gold-headed cane, for which Ben George and Thomas Graham were the candidates. George won, having received 3,122 votes to Graham's 1,712. The cane thus brought $183.40.

It is needless to say that the Fair has proved a success. The facts and figures presented show that its management has been wise, and financially a great work has been accomplished.

GIVING A BOND.

The City Council Orders One Issued to Settle Another—Other Doings of the Fathers.

The City Council held a regular meeting last evening. There was considerable delay in getting at work, owing to a lack of a quorum, but after a lively hunt by Marshal Hogan for a "sixth" man, the necessary number were secured. Mayor Cobb dropped the gavel, and the City Clerk called the roll showing the following present—Alds. Burns, Conrad, Cox, Hemming, Murdock, and Norris.

The business was mainly of a routine nature, the minutes being read and approved, sundry bills and accounts being presented and referred, and the reports of standing committees received and placed on file. Among the official reports presented, approved by the Committee, and accepted by the Council, were the November reports of the Board of Education, Police Justice, and City Treasurer.

The Committee on Finances reported in favor of the payment of sundry bills, which were accordingly ordered paid, the budget being remarkably light.

Rescue Hook & Ladder Company reported the resignation of Seymour Dickey, and the election of H. Blunk to fill the vacancy, and the action was approved.

The important action of the meeting was that concerning the payment of the old bond held by Mr. Parker, and which claim, at a previous meeting, it was decided to settle by paying $9,000. Ald. Conrad introduced last evening an order authorizing the issuing of a bond for $9,000 and interest, not to exceed seven per cent., and all payable October 1, 1881. This mode of procedure was deemed a much more satisfactory and business-like way of providing for the settlement of the claim, and the order was adopted, every alderman present voting in its favor. Having accomplished this the Council adjourned.

PERSONAL.

—T. T. Croft and G. M. Hanchett have gone to St. Louis for a brief trip, expecting to return very early next year.

—M. T. Riker and J. W. Herrington have returned from their southwestern trip, very much improved in health and spirits.

—Elmer Tice, now telegraph operator at East Depere, spent Christmas at home, and tarries here for a few days longer.

MASONIC MATTERS.

Last evening Lodge 55, F. & A. M. installed its officers, and in connection therewith received about thirty visitors belonging to the order in Beloit. These Beloit gentlemen came by special train, and returned about midnight. The party was made up of prominent citizens of that lively little city, and they were made most heartily welcome by their brethren here, and seemed to enjoy the visit hugely. The present railroad facilities afford ample opportunities for these fraternal interchanges of courtesies and greetings which are indeed happy.

The following officers were installed:

W. M.—O. F Nowlan.
S. W.—F. A. Bennett.
J. W.—Thomas E. Cook.
Treas.—J. A. Blount.
Sec'y—J. H. Balch.
S. D.—S. B. Kenyon.
J. D.—W. F. Carle.
Stewards—C. H. Lee and T. R. Gray.
Tiler—A. A. Dresser.
Organist—C. E. Church.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 12 degrees below zero; at 1 o'clock A. M. to-day at 19 below; at 7 o'clock A. M. at 21 degrees below, and at 1 o'clock P. M. at 10 degrees below. Cloudy.

The indications to-day are, for the upper lake region, a slight fall, followed by slowly rising temperature, clear or fair, northwest to southwest winds, and in the eastern portion, rising barometer.
